DOUBLE DUMB

In conversation the other day, I told somebody I am quite sure of things in communications and on a tennis court, but a lot of other things are in limbo.

The two share similarities. They have vast differences.

The outlines of communications are print, vocal, visual, color, sweeping as broad as the mind's senses allow, as deep as the mind's capacity allows, as instinctive as the mind's subconscious allows.

Tennis is a game of chess between two or four people, hitting a ball until it is not returned. The rules are simple, the lines are clear. It is only complicated when people start playing it.

Communications is complicated the minute one person begins to interpret what another says, writes, paints, and otherwise passes on, however he says it.

How many times have you known precisely how you feel or think on a subject, but find failure in getting someone else to understand, or worse, lose confidence because the response is indifferent?

Until they are old or wise, men incline not to admit to such problems.

It is unmanly not to appear in control of things, particularly of one's self. Too many realize too late how ludicrous masculinity is wasted on itself.

Most men are preoccupied in self-determination, denying the forces of both genders which make them the way they are.

If I cannot understand it or be understood, I will ignore it, stomp on it or condition it to my way! Familiar? It doesn't work too well any more.

That's the problem with communications. You hear what you want, see what you want, siphon off what you think you need and blot out the rest. The communicator has to anticipate what's in those blots.

Tennis is much simpler. You serve a ball, not an idea.

If the serve is not too difficult, the receiver returns service and the point is on. Each hits where he thinks the other will miss, searching for a weakness, forcing his opponent to one side, the other, forcing play for an error or a clear winner.

But this is always within lines the same distance on both sides in depth, width. The net is 3 feet at the middle and 3 1/2 feet at the ends. Except for notable variations in game styles, the contest is controlled.

Not so in communications. Regardless of controls, formats and schedules, groundrules and training, a slight inference makes all the difference. If it is style in the writer or speaker or artist, it is potential confusion in the audience.

How can I be confident within so broad a field as if it were as simple as tennis ? I don't know.

I am a shambles with a hammer, screwdriver, or wrench in my hand. Why should I be able to hit a tennis ball? I don't know.

I think the important thing is I am aware of what I can and cannot do. Too many people aren't or, like too many men, won't admit it. Some women, too.

Too many are inclined to take an ego trip off into a bluff. Or off of one. That's dumb, double dumb.

Those other things, beyond communications and tennis, are in limbo. For me, that is. For experts in limbo or all those things, they are perhaps perfectly clear.

I hope so.

Police Report 'Fender Benders' No Injuries

Local police reported three "Fender benders" over the weekend with no injuries and minor damage inflicted.

Police Chief Kent Butler said a collision occurred at 10:22 p.m. Friday when cars driven by David Corona and Cecilia Balboa were involved in an accident in the 600 block of West Main. One of the vehicles attempted to turn into a driveway and the other car hit it in the rear.

On Saturday at 2:05 p.m. cars belonging to Jeannine Willy Dohnalik and Gary Lynn Strutz collided at the intersection of the 600 block of West First and Austin.

And on Monday at 1:25 p.m. police were called to the intersection of Fourth and Travis when cars driven by William Manuel Shrock and Elmer Ramirez Flores collided, causing minor damage to the vehicles.

City Has Bicentennial Status

FUNDS FOR PLAYGROUND—A check for $1,851 goes to the Community Development Agency in Cameron from the Hill Country Community Action Acsociation, Human Services Division. Accepting the check from Max McClaren, right, chairman of the local association, is A. W. McCullin, center. At left is F. G. Wittenburg Jr., executive director of the Hill Country Association. The funds will be used for equipment for the playground to be built near O. J. Thomas School.

Committee To Plan Date For Ceremony

Cameron has been desingated as an official National Bicentennial Community , according to a notice sent this week to James Lafferty, former chairman of the local Bicentennial Committee.

The letter is from Gene Brownrigg, executive director of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Texas.

The letter read: "May we be among the first to offer our congratulations to you and your community on the selection of your community as a National Bicentennial Community. We feel that this action as taken by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration is a significant step in the progress of your Bicentennial celebration."

Brownrigg suggests that an appropriate National Designation Ceremony be scheduled for the presentation of the State Certificate, National Certificate, and National Bicentennial flag.

He added that a minimum of 60 days from the date of the national endoresement is needed to adequately coordinate the ceremony with the ARBA.

Mayor Gene Blake, who also received a copy of the letter, said the Bicentennial Committee will meet and begin planning dates for the designation ceremony.

Mrs. L. W. Stroup was named Bicentennial Committee chairman and LarryMorrow named co-chairman of the group by the city council earlier this month.

Council, Mayor Shoot Questions As TP&L Asks Rate Increase

Larry Morrow, manager of the local Texas Power & Light Co. office, came in for some sharp questioning by Mayor Gene Blake and members of the city council when he appeared requesting an 11 percent increase in electricity rates Tuesday evening.

Morrow's presentation showed how costs have risen for the power company in fuel, construction costs, and financing. He said an overall increase of 11 percent would return 7.15 percent to the company.

Mayor Blake showed a light bill stub, and asked Morrow if he could figure the rate for his bill. Blake said there is no way the ordinary customer can figure his light bill to see it if is correct. Morrow figured the bill using a rate book and said customers can come into the office and have their bill re-figured if they suspect it is not right.

Blake questioned Morrow about the fact that the higher residential rates are for those who use more electricity, and asked if it was still true that the more you used the cheaper it got. Morrow said no.

Morrow admitted the increase would range from 6 percent on a minimum bill to 16 percent at the highest bill.

Council tabled the rate increase request for further study.

In other business, council heard a presentation from R. L. Porter on the Central Texas Credit Union which is being orgnized for city and county employees. Council took no action.

Jack Tumlinson appeared before the council and asked for action on rezoning a large portion of the city from R2 to R1, or from multi-family dwellings to single-family dwellings. Mayor Blake said the matter should go before the planning commission before any action was taken by the council.

The city would have to notify all residents in the area and all living within 200 feet of the area about the proposal, and hold a public hearing.

It was noted that an estimated 780 residents would have to have a letter on it and cost to the city would be high.

Tumlinson said the proposal was first made in September and no action had been taken on it since then. He said they were following the procedure set up in the zoning ordinance.

On a motion to turn the matter over to the planning commission there were three ayes and Councilman Gene Lumpkin abstained.

Council authorized repairs on a police car and repairs on the city's bulldozer.

A motion by Lawrence Zotz to treat Eighth Street to an inverted penetration from Crockett to Vogelsang died for lack of a second. Mayor Blake told St. Supt. Walter Wallace, "Don't touch that street."

Special use permits were requested for 206 E. 15, 409 E. Gillis, and 706 S. College. The 15 Street request was denied and the other two were granted.

Council heard the first reading of a civil defense resolution approving a basic emergency plan for the city in case of disaster.

The street committee submitted a preliminary report and asked for input from the council. The mayor gave his recommendation on what street work should be done and said the city would get Bandas to do the paving since it would be much quicker that way.

Jerry Whiteside appeared before the council and said he was attending the meetings as president of the Cameron Welfare Association and organization for blacks, and said he is trying to get across to his people what the council is doing.

Guilty Plea Nets Probated Sentence

A ten-year probated sentence was given in a murder case in District Court Tuesday morning, after the subject pleaded guilty and waived a jury trial.

Eaffie Jones of Cameron was sentenced for the murder of Harry Bennett on September 1, 1974. He was charged with first degree murder.

District Judge W. C. Wallace handed down the sentence, and also handed down a four-year probated sentence for Henry Brown who was charged with burglary.

Herald To Observe Holiday

Kubiak Declares Law Devastating To Schools

AUSTIN

Declaring a new school finance law is devastating to rural schools, Rep. Dan Kubiak has asked House Speaker Bill Clayton to name an interim committee to develop contingency plans for allocating state funds to local school districts.

The plans would be used by the 65th Legislature, which must deal with education reform when the new two-year education law lapses, Kubiak said.

Though the new education law distributes state funds according to each district's estimated total taxable property value, Kubiak said the valuation figures in the new law are "grossly inaccurate" and would systematically penalize schools in rural areas during the next two years.

"The property valuations in the new law were compiled by a private firm at the Governor's request," he said. "That firm simply added 20 percent to the reported values of each school district, guaranteeing that reporting errors would be retained instead of being corrected."

Kubiak explained that school districts are not required to tax on the full market value of property and said most urban districts assess their ad valorem taxes at far less than full market values. Rural area s and smaller cities with high growth rates, which are hard-pressed to raise local education money, has assessed property taxes at or near full value, Kubiak said.

"By adding 20 percent to those districts which already tax at or near full value, the new education law penalizes the schools which have been doing the best job at raising their fair share," Kubiak said. "It's the same old story--take from the poor and give to the rich."

Tax inequity between urban and rural school districts is further complicated by the structure of the ad valorem tax, Kubiak said, since intangible property such as stocks, bonds, and bank deposits is not taxed.

"A Texas Research League report indicates only 27 percent of the state's wealth falls under thep property tax, while 58 percent of the wealth is intangible and is not taxed for education purposes," Kubiak said. "A large concentration of taxable property lies in rural areas, and the most intangible wealth is concentrated in the state's larger cities."

In a letter to Clayton, Kubiak asked that the special House committee be named "as soon as possible " to begin work on a school finance system which is fair to rural and urban areas alike.

The committee's goals would be developing a funding distribution system which penalizes no category of school districts and formulating an alternative taxation plan which relies on a broader definition of wealth, Kubiak said.

Fires Destroy Homes

Volunteer firemen answered two calls Tuesday, one at 2 a.m. to 701 N. Emancipation when a house belonging to Pinson Estate was destroyed, and another at 1:25 p.m. when Sam Lewis' home at 1511 W. 8 was destroyed. No injuries were reported.

Meeting Set For Lott Residents On Phone Service

Are a residents dissatisfied with Continental Telephone Company's service can voice their grievances Thursday evening at 7 p.m. meeting in the Lott grammar school gymnasium, says Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale.

The public meeting has been scheduled by the Lott city council to consider citizen reaction to Continental's proposal for a major rate increase in Lott, Kubiak said.

"Continental Telephone wants to raise business phone bills by 150 percent and residential bills by 120 percent," Kubiak said. "I think the Lott mayor and city council are acting very wisely by holding this meeting before they take any action on the Continental proposal."

Kubiak said representatives of Continental Telephone had been invited to attend the meeting to answer questions about bills and service problems.

"I know from my own mail that there have been a number of complaints about Continental's service," Kubiak said. "This meeting will give city officials, area residents, and telephone company representatives an opportunity to sit down and talk face-to-face."

The public meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, June 26 in Lott's grammar school gymnasium, Kubiak said.

A WIDE YAWN is Deadline's reaction to being disturbed from her nap in the mail basket at The Herald. She shares the space with mail and rolled up newspapers, claiming rights to her territory.

Moving Beyond Recession...

Comparing the end of this recession to the bottoming out of the Great Depression of the 1930s is absurd.

This one lasted about 18 months, but occurred amidst the controls created out of the depression.

The industrial apparatus now is international, not national, and the problem is to find new world markets as opposed to finding a world war in increased employment.

Areas like Central Texas are in excellent position to invite new development both in industry and job opportunity because overdevelopment in many parts of the country will be slower to recover, if indeed they recover after the boom of the 1960s.

What will be ending unemployment in Central Texas will be recovery of lignite in this area. Building power plants to suit increased needs for Alcoa in Rockdale and Palestine in the next five years is scheduled in 1977.

Our part of Central Texas has energy to export or literally to burn. Not many parts of the world can say that. Coal is at least a powerful intermediate source of energy until nuclear or solar technology evolves.

Milam County's 3.6 percent unemployment figure for April is indicative that labor and jobs tend to balance here in the worst economic era since 1941.

The next step in Central Texas will be moving ahead industrially of a recession-impacted country which will take several years to put unemployment below the 4 percent level.

The combination of controls against depression and simpler economic problems enables us to move ahead of once more-sophisticated areas of the country.

Greater Than Longer Life...

Suddenly malpractice insurance has driven the medical profession into the insurance business and doctors into a search for public resources.

It seems the public pays because the increased fees, the incredible malpractice costs are passed on.

American Medical Association is organizing an insurance affiliate to supplement other insurance coverage. Pooling the cost is the usual approach.

This is another indication that public medical care has gone "bananas." Medicare in recent years has increased costs enormously since more people with less reason are treated at higher costs.

And claims against the medical profession have risen proportionately with the increased demand and exposure to hospitalization and treatment.

Doctors are dedicated, but also the best paid profession in the world. It is unfortunate that medicine should find dollar signs intertwined as often in its development as the serpent wound around a staff.

The insurance problem only dramatizes the cost of medical recovery, both for public and doctors, which may be greater than longer life can afford.

FLORIDA PUTS 'TEETH' IN FIREARMS LAW

Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes (Fla.)". . .Gov. Reubin Askew signed into law May 4 a bill setting a minimum mandatory 3-year prison sentence for major crimes if a firearm is sued--the only thing, according to the bill's sponsor, 'some of these maladjusts understand.'

"Many bills designed to achieve the same purpose have been introduced in Congress over the years. None have received more than casual consideration. It is obvious that mandatory sentences for crimes in which fireamrs are used will be an effective deterrent to crime and much preferable to the antigun bills designed to take weapons away from law-abiding, responsible citizens or to require registration and licensing. It is to be hoped that the example of the State of Florida will awaken new interest in national legistaion of this nature.

"The Florida Legislature prohibits judges from withholding adjudication of guilt if a jury finds the defendant guilty and from suspending sentence or putting the offender on probation.

"The law (SB55) takes effect July 1 and applies to persons convicted of robbery, rape, murder, assualt, burglary, and other major felonies. It was the first major legislation to pass the current session of the Florida Legislature.

"Governor Askew urged the legislature to set a mandatory sentence for violent crimes, but had reservations about the restrictions on judges discretion. Nevertheless he signed the legistatiion

'Criminals wil now know that, if they use a firemarm to commit a crime, they will be sent to prison for at least 3 years--'

"Askew said: 'This law is a positive step toward reducing violent crimes in Florida. . '

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

The law will be effective if the prosecuting attorney does not engage in plea barganing with the accused lawbreaker. By not suggesting that the accused plead guilty to a lessor charge rather than be exposed to a jury trial, where if the accused is found guilty, a mandatory 3 year jail sentence will be imposed.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

DEAR EDITOR:

According to a small item in the paper the other day, the big countries now having the ability to make nuclear bombs are worried over the sale of nuclear power plants to small countries. As I understand it, such power plants are being sold already, and the nuclear powers are trying to figure out some safeguards to keep these small countries from using their nuclear power plants from making bombs along with electricity.

I'm afraid it's too late. Once nuclear power has been discovered by one country, and two or three others catch on to how it's made, safeguarding against the further spread of the secret is like trying to safeguard against the spread of the secret of the bicycle.

The problem now is not how to keep some small country most of us never heard of from getting hold of nuclear power and therefore a nuclear bomb, but how to keep anybody from dropping one of the things and starting an all-out nuclear war and destroying three-fourths of the people on earth.

All I know is that there never was a child who didn't want to try out a new toy or a country that didn't want to try out a new weapon, and if that happens now with nuclear weapons scattered all around the world, look out.

The problem then becomes, who among us should be protected against such a holocaust, who should we save in underground fortresses to start civilization all over again? I have given this some though and have worked up a list.

In the first place, we wouldn't want very many scientists, lest they come out of their hiding place underground and start right bck to work figuring out how to make a hydrogen bomb. No, th list should run more to poets, editors, teachers, farmers, repairmen, housewives, and the other less harmful members of the species, with maybe a banker thrown in here and there, and a few politicans to give the survivors something to laugh about. After all, you know, all work and no play. . .

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Financing Critical For Texas Highways

Texas may run out of money for new highways, according to State Highway Commission Chairman Reagan Houston.

Houston said the financing picture for road building is critical.

"Costs are rising and available financing is not adequate," the Chairman told Texas Good Roads and Transportation Association.

The time may come, he warned, when the state can afford outlays only for maintenance and operation of its highways.

A new study, Houston said, will examine "the widening gap between needed construction and available revenue. . .the desire for higher levels of transportation service, as well as the need to demonstrate to the public benefits of proposed projects.

New legislation signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe merged the Highway Department and Mass Transportation Commission into the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Park Enlarged

The state completed purchase of land, nearly tripling size of Lyndon B. Johnson State Park near Stonewall.

A couple accepted $336,339 for the 133.9 acres of land across the Pedernales River from the late President's ranch. Cost of enlarging the park from its original 269 acres to 717.8 acres will total more than $1 million.

Allowable Set

For the 40th straight month, the Texas Railroad Commission extended the wide-open, 100 per cent oil allowable for July.

However, the East Texas field was again restricted to an 86 per cent allowable. Nominations of major purchasers decreased 2,821 barrels—to 4,018, 347 barrels daily.

Pool Organized

A risk-sharing pool, authorized by the legislature, was organized last week to help provide a temporary solution to the medical malpractice insurance crisis.

The pool will not begin issuing policies until a plan of operation is approved by the State Insurance Board.

The Joint Underwriting Association was instructed to have the operating plan ready by July 7. August 3 is the target date assigned by Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie to place the pool in full operation. The new law directs that it actually be provided insurance to doctors and hospitals by September 1.

Courts Speak

Asking the State Supreme Court to restore an injunction prohibiting a Bell Telephone Texas long distance rate increase, Atty. Gen. John Hill said the company openly claims "unlimited power" to set any rate it wants on such calls.

Third Court of Civil Appeals struck down a district court order that Oak Cliff Savings and Loan Association cannot change its name to First Texas Savings Association.

A Dallas man, through an appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals, received a new trial on charges of burning a two-year-old child.

Another Dallas case — for murder — was reversed, on grounds evidence which resulted in a man's life sentence was too weak.

AG Opinions

Interest from funds transferred to Angelo State University on dissolution of Tom Green County Junior College District may not be used to supplement the president's salary, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A district judge would be prohibited from appointing his grandnephew to represent an indigent defendant if compensation is paid from public funds. Also, a district judge should not appoint the district probation officer to represent a defendant in a criminal case.

A two-mile spacing rule for beeyards is valid if necessary to control spread of honeybee diseases.

Unemployment compensation records are, in general, available under the open records act to employing units and claimants.

Appointments

Governor Briscoe appointed Pedro A. Mendoza of McAllen to the Commission on Fire Protection Personnel Standards and Education.

Mrs. Peggy D. Gutierrez of Laredo was named by the Governor to the Texas Cosmetology Commission.

James M. Bailey of Fort Worth will serve as chairman of the 1975 State Textbook Committee.

Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur will serve as chairman of a special artificial reefs committee of the Coastal and Marine Council to develop artificial reef programs for Texas bays and inshore Gulf areas.

Short Snorts

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White is the new president of the Southern Association of State Departments of Agriculture.

Seventeen new industries located in Texas during May and will pump an additional $40 million into the state's economy. They will also create 1,500 new jobs and generate $250 in taxes.

Alcoa Lists Retirees With 140 Years Service

Seven Alcoans with a total of approximately 140 years service at Aluminum Company of America's Rockdale Works have retired.

They are Marvin W. Evans, C. C. Kamman, F. O. Musto, Tommie Roberson, John N. Smith, R. C. Thomas, and Harold A. Waneck.

Evans, a native of Oletha, joined the company in 1952 as an electrician in electrical maintenance, a job he kept for approximately 23 years. He and his wife, Elizabeth, reside at 522 Belton, Rockdale.

Kamman also came to work for Alcoa in 1952. The Moody native was a production helper and a caster-pourer in the ingot department. He was a metal furnace operator at the time of his retirement. He and his wife, Thelma, reside at 703 1/2 N. Main, Rockdale.

Muston, born in nearby Tanglewood, joined Alcoa in 1953 as a production helper in the carbon plant. He later became an equipment operator and a utility man. Muston and his wife, Ellie Mae, live on Route 1, Rockdale.

Roberson, a Lexington native, joined the company in 1953 as a production helper in the utility department. He later became a potman but lately worked as a building custodian. He and his wife, Althemeta, live in Giddings.

Smith was hired by Alcoa in 1953 as a truck driver in the mechanical maintenance department but shortly switched to driving for the plant's yard services group, a job he held for the remainder of his career. The Oklahoma native and his wife, Thelma, live at 719 Hogan Street, Rockdale.

Thomas, a native of New Baden, joined the company as a production helper in 1962. He later transferred to the potline department and then to the carbon plant as a production helper. He was an equipment operator in the carbon plant at the time of retirement. Thomas and his wife, Areatha, live in Bryan at 1403 Lindon Street.

Waneck, born in Rosanky, was hired by Alcoa in 1954 as a production helpe in the utility department. He later became a potman in the smelting plant. Waneck spent the last 12 years as a craft helper in the plant's mechanical maintenance group.

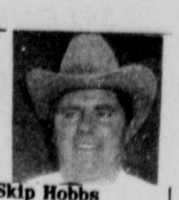
TEXAS TALK



By Skip Hobbs

One hundred years ago in the central European town of Brunn, Grego Mendel wrote a scientific paper entitled, EXPERIMENTS IN PLANT HYBRIDIZATION. Mendel based the paper on observations made in his own garden. Those observations and further studies planted the seeds of today's Green Revolution. Commercial adaptation of Mendel's Laws really got underway in 1926 when Iowa farmers were given the first hybrid corn seed. It was a slow start . . . seven years later only about one percent of the corn crop was planted with hybrid varieties. By 1956 though, virtually all corn was hybrid and the Green Revolution had officially arrived. Now there are literally hundreds of varieties of hybrids for each of the major types of corn and a number of state agricultural experiment stations devote a majority of their efforts toward developing even better quality, higher producing strains.

TEXAS TWO MAJOR grain crops--wheat and sorghum--are in varying degrees of harvest. The 1975 Texas wheat crop per acre yield is now estimated to be 50 per cent higher than last year. But the 24 bushel average for the state this year is still considerably below the record 29 bushels per acre in 1973.

Wheat harvest is around a third complete at the present time. And even though the June 1 wheat projections are 5,500,000 bushels below an earlier forecast, it still is the best wheat crop ever for Texas.

Harvested acres are now estimated at 5,500,000; this is a 67 per cent increase over the 1974 figure.

Sorghum planting is virtually complete for the state and harvest of the crop, which was underway in the Rio Grande Valley, was halted for a time due to rains.

The crop generally is described over the state as making good to excellent progress.

RANGE AND PASTURE CONDITIONS in the state are 84 per cent of normal now compared to 74 per cent on May 1. Ranges and pastures generally have responded to moderate to heavy rainfall by putting on new growth and furnishing excellent grazing. South Texas, however, is the exception to this situation.

Will Beef Consumption Set Record?

Will U. S. consumers eat more beef in 1975?

"Most authorities feel that per capita consumption of beef will surpass the record of 117 pounds of last year," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Estimates are placed at 122 to 125 pounds per person.

"It will be difficult to absorb all this beef without lower price levels than have existed in the last two years. There are also other factors that will influence beef prices and consumption in the coming months," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

County Agent Notes...

Wheat Varieties Reviewed

By Bill McCutchen

The last couple of years has seen a sizeable increase in wheat production in Milam County. Several reasons for this increase have been attractive prices on wheat until recently, uncertainly about grain sorghum and cotton prices, winter grazing pluses with wheat, and opportunities to clean up Johnsongrass land following wheat production.

As there was no local information on wheat varieties a variety demonstration was established last fall on the Reeves Brown farm in the Little River Bottom near Cameron. These varieties were Coker 68-15 a soft winter wheat; and the following hard red winter wheats; Sturdy, Pioneer X2129, TAM 101, Caprock, Caddo, Dekalb 581, Pioneer 581, Pioneer HR900, Pioneer HR975, and Agent.

The varieites wereplanted in 1/2 acre plots, combine harvested and weighed on public scales. Fertilizer applications included 45-45-12 at planting and a top dress of 34-0-0 in February.

Coker 68-15 was the top grain producer at 43.6 bushels per acre followed by Sturdy at 41.3 bushels per acre. Pioneer X2129 cut 36 bushels; TAM 101, 35; Caprock , 34.3; Caddo , 32; Dekalb 581, 31.6; Pioneer HR 900, 28; Pioneer HR 975, 25.6; and Agent, 14.6.

Top forage wheat was Agent followed closely by Coker 68-15, Pioneer X2129, and Sturdy.

In the overall evaluations for grain production, grazing, standability, rust and smut resistance, Coker 68115 , a soft winter wheat; and Sturdy, a hard red winter wheat, outdistanced the others.

Others showing up well in all catagories were Pioneer X2129, TAM 101, and Caprock

Forty-seven days of grazing at a stocking rate of 1 animal unit per acre was achieved on alivarieites and cattle were removed February 22. Grazing or clipping after thi s date definately reduced yields, but it was also noted that wheat varieties that were not grazed because they were under cages lodged much more than those that had been grazed moderatly.

Sorghum Midge expected

Sorghum Midge populations are likely to build up to damaging numbers by the last few days of June. Grain sorghum is only susceptible to midge damage during the time of bloom, and moist fields are expected to be out of danger by this time.

Producers with grain sorghum blooming in late June and early July should observe fields closely. two to three midge per head will inflict damaging crop losses. It may well be economical to treat terrace channels and other wet areas that will be blooming late.

I would caution producers to be extremely careful in spraying midge where cotton is adjoining grain sorghum fields. Insecticide drift onto cotton usually causes severe boll worm outbreaks in cotton fields.

Weather Blight Hits Cotton Crop

Recent rains, cloudy weather, and earlier hail storms have combined to boost the development of Ascochyta or wet-weather blight on much of the Texas cotton crop.

That assessment comes from Dr. Walter Walla, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Ascochyta blight is caused by a fungus which survives from year to year in the soil on old infected plant parts. The disease-causing organism may also be carried over on fuzzy and mechanically delinted seed that have not been treated with a fungicide," points out the Texas A&M University Systemspecialist.

"Seedlings and plants that are unthrifty because of fertilizer deficiencies are more susceptible to the blight when they are damaged by blowing sand or hail. The fungus easily invades the weakened tissues and becomes epidemic in proportion," says Walla.

Symptoms on leaves occur as small, round, purple lesions. Later the lesions enlarge, becoming irregular in shape. The centers become ashy-colored and may fall out. Lesions may also occur on steams and bolls.

"Ascochyta blight can kill plants early in the season," notes the pathologist. "In older plants, defoilation will occur and yields and fiber quality will be reduced.'

Hot, dry weather will boost cotton growth and development and cause the disease to subside,points out Walla.

He recommends the use of acid delinted seed or seed that has been treatd with a recommended fungicide to prevent problems with the blight next year.

Walla also advises producers who plan to plant cotton on the same land again next year to make a special effort to shred and turn under all old cotton debris.

LONDON

Exhaust fumes in stop-go traffic jams may do more than just give you a headache--they may well be the cause of some car crashes. It is now suspected that the foul-smelling smoke belching from cars may slow down a driver's coordination by just enough to make a difference when he needs it most, in the split second before a collision.

JUELICH, WEST GERMANY

This rustic Rhineland town, which nouses one of West Germany's most important nuclear research centers, has a habit of popping in and out of history periodically. It got its name from Julius Caesar some 2,000 years ago when the Romans were keeping the watch on the Rhine. Eight hundred years later it was the corn bin of the Roman empire and has popped up in modern times as a nuclear "Garden of Eden."

TEHERAN

More Americans may be marked down for killing by the Marxist guerrillas who shot todeath two U. S. Air Force officers on a Teheran street last montth. This is the opinionof some diplomats who believe the Marxist movement may strike harder and more often as Iran grows from strength to strength on the international state. The killings produced no great wave of alarm in American circles here.

BOSTON

It was the misnamed battle of the American Revolutionary War. The battle of Bunker Hill, the first full-scale engagement between American colonials and British regulars, actually was fought over 200 years ago on nearby Breed's Hill. Thousands of Americans are due to converge on the battle-site in Charleston later this month, to take part in the Bicentennial celebrations of the historic confrontation.

NEW YORK

Trash has been put on exhibit at New York's Museum of Natural History. But it is definitely not trashy. And it is certainly not garbage. The exhibit is "trash can toys and games" of discarded items which have been "recycled" into toys that any child can make. An egg carton caterpillar, clothespin people, a tin can castle, a plastic space station and an Aztec idol are among items which have children taking notes on how to do it themselves.

HAVANA

Cuba's propaganda machinery has been put into high gear in preparation for the first congress of its Communist Party, scheduled to take place next December. There is no way Cubans can forget about the event as countless posters, neon signs, and radio slogans keep reminding them that 1975 has been named "The Year of the First Congress." The congress is to issue the final draft of the western hemisphere's first Communist constitution.

BONN

Guenter Guillame, the alleged Communist spy who burrowed into the heart of the West German government and bcame a personal political assistant to ex-Chancellor Willy Brant, goes on trial in Duesseldorf next week on charges of treason. The Guillame scandal, in April 1974, caused a political crisis and the resignation of Nobel Peace Prize-winner Willy Brandt as the head of the Bonn government.

BUENOS AIRES

Millions of foreign books, newspapers, and magazines are rotting in Argentine warehouses because of import restrictions which have begun isolating this country from the re of the world. The influx of foreign publications was redu to a virtual trickle after February when the Peronist g ern ment suspended all imports to halta heavy drain on hard cas reserves. Books ordered for schools and universities have been held in customs sheds since then.

CAMERON GERMAN FOLK DANCERS

Colonial Nursing Home News

The famous Cameron German Folk Dancers visited the home on June 1, and we had the pleasure of seeing them dance the old German dances in their quaint costumes. Our patients enjoyed their visit very much as it brought back many pleasantmemories.

Those who came to visit were Mr. Charlie Kunz, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Michalka, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hundle, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Crook, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kostroun, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanel.

Current events were held on June 4 by Mrs. La Verne Green. Mrs. Green always has an interesting program. The residents were happy to learn that Paul Crume, who writes the Dallas Morning News, found his windmill. That in fact was he found more windmills that he bargained for! Mrs. Green had read to us about Mr. Crume's search for a windmill previously.

The Rev. John Homerstad delivered the June 5 church service. His sermon was from 1st Samuel, Chapter 1: "The Life of Hanna". Special music was sung by Mrs. Louise Archer and Mrs. Sharon McCullin with Mrs. Denton House accompanist.

June birthdays were celebrated by Mrs. Nora Powell and Mrs. Ida Swift at a birthday party given by the women of the Abiding Savior Lutheran Church.

The devotional, "Peace Amid Storms" was presented by Mrs. Franklin Glaser. The ladies sang a number of songs with Mrs. Denton House as pianist.

Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Swift were served a cake with candles. All residents of the home were served cake and punch by Mrs. Evelyn Glaser, Mrs. Frances Homerstad, Mrs. Mary Porubsky, Mrs. Edna Rosenburg, Miss Karen Glase, and Miss Barbara Hubnik.

Refreshments were furnished by Mrs. Homerstad, Mrs. Helen Fuchs, Mrs. Pauline Friemel, Mrs. Kay Glaser, and Mrs. Evelyn Glaser.

June 12 church services were held by the Rev. H. M. Bowley, who told us of his hallowing experience in a small boat during a recent storm. The theme of the service, "To be a follwer of the Lord, we have to believe."

Mrs. Louise Archer led the singing. Rev. Bowley sang "In the Shelter of His Arms," accompanied by Mrs. Denton House as pianist. Mrs. Lucille Cameron gave the Benediction.

Sunday church services for June 1, 8, and 15 were held by Nelson Green with Mrs. Green and Mary Carleton assisting.

Rev. Bowley and members of his church held a song service for our residents the afternoon of June 8. We always enjoy their music and singing.

Ceremony Unites Couple

Miss Donna Gayle Summers and Bobby Yates were married at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, June 7 in the courtyard of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Summers of Dimmitt. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Yates of Cameron.

Rev. Ronnie Parker officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The courtyard was decorated with an arbor of vine amid hanging baskets of flowers. The candle lit pathway led to an arch of greenery marked byarrangements of candles in low triple candelabra tied with red satin ribbons. The marriage ceremony took place beforethe arch and was followed by a candle ceremony, symbolizing unity.

The music was furnished by Mrs. Valeria Davis, organist, Becky Killingswirth, soloist, and Viggo Ulrich, guitarist and soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length dress of striped, imported, embroidered Indian gauze with cotton lace trim. The three-tiered skirt was gathered to a bodice featuring a square neckline accented with lace trim and Bishop sleeves withwide lace cuffs. Her picture hat was banded and tied with the emboridered Indian gauze. She carried a nosegay of red garnet roses and Gypsophelia tied with red satin ribbon.

Matron of honor was Rose Ann Summers of Houston, sister-in-law to the bride. She wore a dress of voile in a print of muted primary colors on a natural background. Featuring a large white notched collar, Bishop sleeves, and wide cuffs, her dress fell into a flowing A-line skirt. Her white picture hat was trimmed with a red ribbon and she carried a long-stemmed red rose.

Best man was Johnny Yates of Rockdale, brother of the groom.

Candlelighters were Stephanie Killingsworth and Heidi Henderson. Flower girl was Allison Summers. They wore full length dresses of voile in a print of muted primary colors. The dresses featured a white pinafore and print bonnet, long sleeves, Peter Pan collars, and wide ruffles at the hems.

The usher was Dean Summers. Patrick Killingsworth was the ring bearer.

A reception was held in the courtyard. The three-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's uncle was served from a candle lit table by Mrs. Richard Connell and Mrs. Jack Miller.

A pre-wedding party was held inthe home of the bride's parents. Small sandwiches and fresh fruit were served by Miss Kirsit Springer, cousin of the bride.

MR. AND MRS. BOBBY YATES

The bride graduated from Dimmitt High School and attended Abilene Christion College. She has taught business in high school and is presently employed in VOE inElgin schools.

The bridegroom graduated from Yoe High School in Cameron and A&M University. He is presently employed as Agriculture teacher in Elgin schools.

After a wedding trip to Ruidoso and Carlsbad, New Mixico, the couple will live in Elgin.

Family Gathers For Reunion

The children of the late Dr. and Mrs. Gus Evans Sr. gathered for a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bassel Wilson Saturday, June 14.

Attending the reunion were Dr. and Mrs. Gus Evans Jr. and children; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Cobb and children, Eric, and Jennifer; Cliff Evans; Debbie Evans; Mrs. T. H. (Laurita) De Laureal and sons, Tom and Doug, and granddaughter, Amy, of Lake Charles, La.; Mr. and Mrs. John S. Evans of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Basil (Inez) Wilson; Cong. and Mrs. Jack Beraka and son, Jeb, of McLean, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Collins, Todd and Hillary of Tyler; Mr. and Mrs. Carter E. Collins and sons, Christopher, and Anthony of Midlothian.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Harbour of Rogers have returned home from Miami where they went on a Saturday to Saturday Caribbean Carnival Cruise sponsored by the Texas State Teachers Association.

They visited Nassau, Bahamas, San Juan, Puerto Rico, and St. Thomas Island in the Virgin Islands.

Belton Rodeo, Fair July 2-4

BELTON (Spl). . .Belton's annual Independence Day Celebration will mark the 125th anniversary of the organization of Bell County and the founding of the county seat, the City of Belton, with the annual July 2, 3, 4, rodeos expected to draw more national rodeo contestants than ever.

Rodeos in the area in Confederate Park on IH 35 will begin nightly at 8:15 produced by Bobby Steiner Rodeo Ranch of Austin. Admission will be $3.50 and $2.50 per person.

The Family Fun Carnival, in its second year of operation, will be along Nolan Creek in Confederate Park. Booths offer the usual carnival entertainment with prizes, except that the 14 fun booths are operated by Belton church groups and service clubs. There are also three food booths.

Carnival rides are contracted for, but will be manned by local people.

The July 4 patriotic program begins at 9 a.m. on the north steps of the courthouse, and will be an official Bicentennial program for the city. Dr. Don Anthony of Tyler, formerly of Belton, will be the speaker. The gigantic parade will roll promtply at 10 a.m.

The parade will include decorated commercially sponsored floats, a Navy band, military displays and the exhibition cavalry unit from Ft. Hood, business float entries, and riding clubs from all Central Texas.

The Belton rodeo queen and her duchesses and duchesses from other Central Texas cities willride on commerically sponsored floats.

The day-long program in Yettie Polk Park will include a Bluegrass Music Festival, Country-Western Music Festival, Old Fiddlers Contest, and a Starving Artist Sale by Bell Fine Arts Association and other area artists. All entertainment in Yettie Polk Park is free.

The rodeo will include the five standard RCA events,plus girls cloverleaf barrel racing.

The world's first physician known by name was Egytiar Iovhotep

Golf Champ Denies Any Benefits

MEDINAH, ILLINOIS Reuter--Someone once said that winning the U. S. Open was worth a million dollars in commercial benefits.

But don't tell that to Hale Irwin, who will be defending his U. S. title when the diamond anniversary of the world's biggest golf tournament begins here Thursday.

"I don't know who said it," Irwin said following a practice round on the rain-soaked number three layout at the Medinah Country Club, "but it's not true. In fact, from a commercial standpoint it hasn't mean much to me at all."

The 30-year-old Missourian, whose five-over-par 287 enabled him tocapture last year's open at Winged Foot by two strokes told Reuter he picked up several endorsements as a result of his victory.

"I got a few (endorsements) which paid about $10,000, but that's about all."

The soft-spoken bespectacled Irwin, a former football star at the University of Colorado, said that in a sense he might have picked the wrong time to win the open.

"Because of the state of the economy, the big companies that would normally spend a lot of money on endorsements didn't do so," he said.

But others have speculated that Irwin did not reap anv large-scale financial windfall from his open triumph --apart of course, from his $35,000 purse--because of his personality.

Hale Irwin, it seems, suffers from an image problem.

Even when he shot a record-tieing 65 during the final round in the masters, it was largely ignored because of Jack Nicklaus' duel with Johnny Miller and Tom Weiskoph.

Nicklaus smiles a lot and hits the ball a mile. Arnold Palmer is a legend in his own time. Lee Trevino is a non-stop talker, even when he's playing, and jokes with the gallery and the press. And Miller,with his blond good looks, is the All-American boy.

But Hale Irwin is all business on the golf course. He doens't smile, show little, if any,emotion, and the only one he talks to is his caddy.

Still, he feels he has not received a square shake from the sports-writing image-makers in the U. S.

"I have an identity--my own--and I'm quite content with it," he said. "I laugh a lot off the course and I joke with the other players and with my friends.

"But I don't think there's been any effort by many people to find out what kind of person I'm like off the golf course as there has been with other leading players."

"Even my friends tell me that what they read about me --about my being so quiet and aloof--is not at all reflectve of what I'm really like," Irwin said.

"Lee Trevino is loud and boisterous and gets a lot of publicity. Jack Nicklaus is very opinionated and outspoken.

"I'm not like either of them. And, unfortunatley, it seems that if you don't make a lot of noise of express a lot of strong opinions, you don't get too much attention," he said.

Actually, Irwin is an intelligent, articulate individual and hardly the faceless golfing drone he has been made out to be.

Like many of his colleagues, he enjoys a prank. For example, while on the practice putting green, he playfully intercepted several of Charles Coody's putts with his own deft putter. But only a handful of spectators observed Irwin's horseplay.

Yet Irwin said he does not resent the fact that other players, including a number of lesser lights, get far more attention.

Nor is he offended by the fact that Nicklaus, Miller, Trevino, Weiskopf and even a few others are regarded as the most formidable players in this year's open field.

"I know I can win it again," he said. "I've beaten these players before and there's no reason I can't do it again.

Softball Schedule

Girls softball in both elementary and jr. high levels is in full swing (sometimes we hit, sometimes we miss). Games will continue each week as scheduled below so that each team will have a chance to play each of the others teams twice.

June 30, Mon., 6 p.m., Rascals vs Red Sox
July 3, Thurs, 5 p.m., Peanut Patties vs Kittens
July 7, Mon, 6 p.m. Rascals vs Kittens
July 10, Thurs, 5 p.m. Peanut Patties vs Red Sox
July 14, Mon, 6 p.m. Rascals vs Peanut Patties
July 17, Thurs, 5 p.m. Red Sox vs Kittens
July 21, Mon., 6 p.m. All-Star game

For all-star game the best players from the three teams which came in second, third, and fourth will play the team which wins the League Play for the summer. At that time trophies will be awarded to the girls of the winning team.

The Jr. High schedule is as follows:-

June 30, Mon., 7:30 p.m. Spunky Spiders vs Wildfire
July 3, Thurs, 6:30 p.m. Dynamites vs Banada Splits
July 7, Mon., 7:30 p.m. Banana Splits vs Spunky

July 17, Thurs, 6:30 p.m. Wildfire vs Banana Splits
July 21, Mon., 7:30 p.m. All-Star game.

The winning team for the summer will play the best players from the other three teams.

Mrs. Trubee is now helping by coaching the team of Wildfire. Becky McDaniel is out of town so will not be able to continue coaching her team. Thanks to all the coaches, ladies,and men who have helped to make this season an enjoyable one for the girls. Thanks especially to Bruce Crook who has heldped run the concession stand and kept the wheels turning smoothly.

MURRAY-GO-ROUND

By Tom Murray

QUICKIES:

Strange. Rod Shoate, Oklahoma's great, All-America Linebacker, was saying the Sooner NCAA probation for illegal recruting was unfair: Intimated it should have been applied to the offending coach, Chuck Fairbanks, now with the professional New England Patriots. So, whom does Shoate sign a pro contract with? Why Fairbanks and Boston, of course.

****

Blackie Sherrod: "Ozzie Nelson's funeral had sports casting. Reverend Don Moomaw, former UCLA lineback, conducted the services, grid great Tom Harmon gave the eulogy". . . Lee Trevino on what it takes to win in golf: "Look, style doesn't mean anything in golf. The trouble with some golfers is they try to copy somebody else, try to look good swinging. The whole key to golf is the flat stick, the putter." Are you listening?

RECORD BETTER:

Jim Kaat, the veteran White Sox pitcher, in a surprising comeback, on his 10 victories: "My record looks a lot better than my pitching has."... Now Lee May, sold to Balitmore for behcn-jockey second baseman Rob Andres, has made the American League All-Star Team. Since those guys always become Super Stars once getting to another team, perhaps they are deliberately stinking up the Astrodome to get out. . .Has the Magazine Jinx gotten to Nolan Ryan? The Big angel Pitcher out of Alvin has had naught but trouble ever since his fourth no-hitter got him on the cover of Sports Illustrated and Newsweek. . .Say, do you think Burt Hooton felt like shouting to the Astros, "Welcome to the Big leagues!"

TSTI Offers Hospital Engineering

A new two-year program in Hospital engineering Technology will be offered beginning in September on the James Connally Campus of Texas State Technical Institute.

Graduates of the program will receive an Associate of Applied Science degree. Hospital Engineeing Technology is the first program of its kind in Texas.

Instruction will be aimed at training students for employment in a hospital as a maintnance technician. After gaining work experience, the technician should be capable of assuming supervisory responsiblities for repair, maintenance, and upkeep of equipment, buildings, and grounds.

Instruction will cover a wide spectrum of subjects from care and servicing equipment to safety testing; from managerial training to cost accounting.

Applications are now being accepted for a faculty position for the new program.

GOP Show To Air On Television

WASHINGTON

Topics ranging from rehabilitation of drug users to the differences between Republicans and Democats will be included in a Republican-sponsored network TV show July 1.

Entitled "Republicans Are People, Too," the show will air at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday on the NBC network. Viewers should check television listings for stations and local times.

The show is a follow-up to the "People" program on June 5, which Republican officials considered a success

The July 1 program will have TV personalities Mary Ann Mobley and Gary Collins as co-hosts.

One of the Republican-sponsored projects covered in the show is a rehabilitation program for drug users sponsored by Mike Curb, the record producer and California Republican activist, and several GOP groups. Curb refushed to produce records by artists who used drugs while he was president of MGM Records. He now runs his own production company.

A film report will discuss the differeing philosophies of Democrats and Republicans, especially the different methods used to achieve common goals.

The program will feature Rep. Alan Stellman of Texas answering questions from his constitutents in an unrehearsed meeting. Also appearing will be Richard Lugar, Republican mayor of Indianapolis, Ind.

The husband and wife team of Mary Ann Mobley and Gary Collins will co-host the show. Both are television personalities and dedicated Republicans. Ms. Mobley is a former Miss America.

Besides the drug rehabilitation program, the show will report on a New Jersey Republican state senator's successful efforts to provide better schools for handicapped children and a transportation service for elderly residents in Duxbury, Mass., instigated by the town's Republican women's club.

Tourist Industry Booming

AUSTIN

Have any folding money in your billfold or purse? Take it out, and look at it.

If the prominent letter on the front (left of the portrait) is something besides a "K," that money orignated outside of Texas.

Fortunately for the more than 600,000 Texans whose livelihood depends upon the state's tourist industry, those out-of-state dollars are flowing into Texas at increasing rates.

That good news comes for a report issued today by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation which shows that visitation to Texas Tourist Bureaus so far this year has shown an impressive increase over 1974. In fact, with 699,384 visitors, it is an increase of 33.6 percent!

That total even xceeds the same period during 1973, whichwas a record-breaking year fo r Texas tourism. Thus 1975 could be the best year ever for the Texas tourist industry.

"In a year when energy seems to be the topic, we're finding out-of-state visitors, as well as Texans, clamoring for more and more literature on Texas. They're also asking assistance in routing, to insure getting the most from every mile," said Tom H. Taylor, director of Travel and Information for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Last year more than 19 million out-of-state visitors poured over two billion out-of-state dollars into Texas while traveling around the state. And Texans on recreational trips added another $2 billion, making a grand total of $4.8 billion spent by tourists in Texas last year.

Produce Heads List Of Bargains

Produce counter variety and increasing supplies are seeing more activity in that section of supermarkets this week.

Cantaloupe and corn supplies are up, so prices are down, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, noted.

"Also honeydew, watermelons, and cheeries are on most markets now--with prices moderate to relatively high," The Texas Agricultral Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System, specialist added.

The same holds true for apricots, peaches, nectarines, and strawberries.

Mrs. Clyatt reported moderate prices on okra, cucumbers, blackeye and purple hull peas--along with summer squash, radishes, and green onions.

"Prices remain relatively high on dry onions and potatoes."

At meat counters, she termed fryer chicken, turkeys, and eggs "good protein foods, pricewide."

Look for best beef values on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef, and liver.

State Tech To Receive Helicopter

Cong. W. R. Poage's office recently received notification that the General Services Administration has approved transfer of an OH 13-S helicopter to Texas Surplus Properties. The aircraft will be donated to Texas State Technical Institute's aviation maintenance program to be used for training purposes.

The three place helicopter has a 270 horsepower turbo-super-charged engine and will be used to train State Tech students in both airframe and powerplant maintenance.

The light observation type chopper will join numerous other aircraft in the school's aviation maintenance program including jets, other helicopters, bi-planes, private airplanes, and commercial type carriers.

The acquisition of the craft is especailly important to program heads because of the experience students will receive by working on the turbo-charged OH 13-S. The turbo-charged craft can fly at higher altitudes with better performance because of the feature.

Students in the two year aviation maintenance program learn to maintain all types of government certified aircraft. The program is approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

Aviation maintenance technicians are trained to perform such duties as rigging, assembly, hydraulics, electrical systems, sheetmetal repair, fuel systems, carbuertion and fuel metering, woodworking, fabric work, painting, engine overhaul, etc.

SAVINGS BOND SALES

Henry Siebman, County Chairman for the Savings Bonds Program in Milam county, reported sales of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in the amount of $62,723 for April 1975. Sales for the first four months of the year totaled $255,284 which represented 31% of their assigneddollar goal.

Pilgrims To Receive Bibles

NEW YORK

Pope Paul VI and the United Bible Societies are cooperating to provide SCRIPtures to pilgrims visiting the Vatican during the Holy Year 1975, according to an announcement bythe Rev. Warner A. Hutchingson, a general secretary of the American Bible Society who is also a world service officer of the United Bible Socieites.

Hutchinson reported that a proposal made by a joint committee of the United Bible Societies and the World Catholic Federation for the Biblical Apostolate was accepted by the Pope.

The proposal suggested that specially prepared editions of Scriptures from the New Testament be distributed IN English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish to those who visit St. Peter's Basilica, St. Peter's Square, and other special events during the remainder of the Holy Year.

As a result, more than 2,000,000 four-page leaflets containing a passage from the Letter of James have been prepared, and also a 16-page leflet containing the entire epistle for distribution on special occasions.

The Letter of James was chosen because its themes of renewal and reconciliation coincide with Pope Paul's Holy Year themes, and because the joint committee flet that James' thoughts on poverty and wealth are particularly relevant to contemporary world discussions.

The project is one of many much-needed Scripture translation and publication projects which have resulted from the Second Vatican Council's approval on interconfessional Bible works. Roman Catholics and other Christians are now translating Scriptures together in 13 languages.

The New Testament has already been published in 50 of these languages. The costs of these projects have been shared by the Bible Societies and the Roman Catholic Church.

Outside the English-speaking countries and northern Europe, the Bible Societies are almost the only source of Scriptures for Christian churches and ministries. Inexpensive editions are readily available through the Societies so that all can afford them, and the cost is subsidized by donations.

Service Set At First Methodist

The Sixth Sunday of Pentecost will be observed this Sunday at the 10:55 a.m. worship service at the First Methodist Church. Scripture to be read will be taken from John 10:1-10. Special music will be presented by the Chancel choir under the direction of Mrs. T. D. Corley and Mrs. Cahterine Thomas will play the organ. Rev. Stanley Vodicka will preside at the service.

The United Youth Fellowship will meet at the First Methodist Church this Thursday evening to plan for Youth activities. that will be held on July 13-17.

PICNIC MORNING

Happiness is a picnic morning. Happiness is a day spent with the family. Happiness is walking and talking and sharing the fun and beauty of God's world with those you love.

A picnic is always a happy idea. Somehow, just getting away from the daily routine does wonders. The sound of a cool waterfall, the rustle of a bird on the wing, the warmth of a friendly sun: all of it makes you "come alive" with a new kind of freshness.

There is another place where we all may renew our strength for the times we live in. The atmosphere, fellowship, and inspirational teachings of your church will do much to keep you walking happy. Spend next Sunday morning in church.

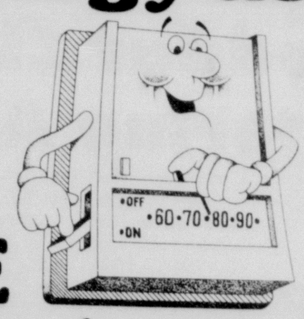
Reducing plan for energy users



Plan E
How to save electricity when using air conditioning

Central Systems
1. Keep equipment at top operating efficiency. Have it checked seasonally by qualified serviceman.
2. Check filter every 30 days. Dirty filters cause equipment to use excessive electricity. If filter is permanent, clean by manufacturer's directions; if it's disposable, it should be replaced when dirty.
3. Keep furniture, draperies away from air outlets and returns. Clean often.
4. Close draperies and blinds to keep out direct sunlight.
5. Keep fireplace damper closed. Draft pulls cool air up the chimney.
6. Proper home insulation keeps the cool in, cuts energy use. Attic ventilation helps, too. Insulation questions? Call TP&L.
7. Shade on roof and walls can reduce energy needed to cool. But trim trees, shrubs away from outside compressor unit. Keep it free of leaves, debris. If air flow is blocked, unit uses more energy.
8. Weatherstrip doors and windows; caulk cracks to prevent drafts and cool air loss.
9. Keep windows closed. Open outside doors as little as possible.
10. Set thermostat on 78° and leave it there. Turn unit off if you'll be away from home several days.

Window Units
Follow all above suggestions, plus these:
11. Buy unit with highest "energy efficiency ratio" (EER). Uses less electricity to cool. If EER is not on sales tag, ask for it or figure it yourself. Divide "wattage" into "BTU" capacity. Both figures are on unit.
12. Place unit where it'll get as little direct sun as possible.
13. Aim air outlets at lower half of doorway to next room to allow warm air from that room to enter at the doortop for recooling, recirculation.
14. Never vent air conditioner into garage. Ventilation is usually too poor for top performance of your unit.

Conserve electricity and you help conserve one or more of the fuels needed to produce it: natural gas, coal and oil. Conserve fuels and you help assure that there will be enough to meet essential needs for electricity in the future.

When you pass a TP&L office, warehouse, generating plant or other facility, you'll see that we've turned off all non-essential lighting. And, in as many other ways as possible, TP&L is reducing its own uses of electricity.

If you would like additional information on conserving electricity, call or see the Customer Service Representative in the TP&L Office.
